Introduction

This Corporate Governance Handbook (the Handbook) has been prepared by British Rowing Limited to explain how it is governed, and how it makes its decisions.

This Handbook was approved by the Board of British Rowing Limited on 22 May 2018 and takes effect on 1 September 2018. It replaces all previous rules, handbooks, governance processes and similar documents created prior to 1 September 2018.

Governance Principles

British Rowing has established its governance structure, processes and procedures to comply with a number of relevant and diverse standards, as well as its responsibilities and duties under national law.

This Handbook reflects in particular the commitment British Rowing has made in relation to the Code for Sport Governance (the Code). The Code was jointly produced by UK Sport and Sport England, and applies to all organisations within the United Kingdom to whom they provide funding. The Code contains a number of core Principles and Requirements: British Rowing has committed to comply with these Principles and Requirements.

The core principles of the Code are –

Structure: Organisations shall have a clear and appropriate governance structure, led by a Board that is collectively responsible for the long-term success of the organisation and exclusively vested with the power to lead it. The Board shall be properly constituted, and shall operate effectively.

People: Organisations shall recruit and engage people with appropriate diversity, independence, skills, experience and knowledge to take effective decisions that further the organisation's goals.

Communication: Organisations shall be transparent and accountable, engaging effectively with stakeholders and nurturing internal democracy.

Standards and Conduct: Organisations shall uphold high standards of integrity, and engage in regular and effective evaluation to drive continuous improvement.

Policies and Processes: Organisations shall comply with all applicable laws and regulations, undertake responsible financial strategic planning, and have appropriate controls and risk management procedures.

British Rowing operates according to these principles in the practical application of its governance. In particular:

The Board has overall responsibility for British Rowing: the Board has ultimate responsibility for running British Rowing.

Governance is based on collaboration: British Rowing is an organisation where people want to work together to achieve a common goal. Its governance arrangements are designed to encourage agreement and working together.

Governance processes are proportionate: British Rowing has established governance processes to help it make sound and accountable decisions. British Rowing relies on and trusts the skills and judgement of its people.

Governance should reflect everyone: Rowing attracts and embraces people with varying interests and perspectives. British Rowing's governance structures and processes recognise this breadth of interests, providing a voice for different views through a genuinely democratic structure.

In the case of an equality of votes whether on a show of hands or on a poll the [chair] of the Meeting shall be entitled to a casting vote.

[67] British Rowing may make whatever arrangements it considers appropriate to enable those attending a General Meeting to exercise their rights to speak or vote at it.

[68] A poll may be demanded by the [chair] of the Meeting or by at least two Members present by representative or by proxy. A demand for a poll may be withdrawn.

[69] A poll on the election of the [chair] of the Meeting or on a question of adjournment or any other question must be taken forthwith. Any other business on the agenda may be proceeded with whilst awaiting the result of a poll, provided that the business does not bear any relation to the subject of the poll. The procedure for taking a poll shall be decided by the [chair] of the Meeting at which the poll is demanded.

- [d] is delivered to British Rowing in accordance with the Articles and any instructions contained in the notice of the General Meeting to which it relates.

[73] British Rowing may require proxy notices to be delivered in a particular form, and may specify different forms for different purposes.

[74] Proxy notices may specify how the proxy appointed under them is to vote (or that the proxy is to abstain from voting) on one or more resolutions.

[75] Unless a proxy notice indicates otherwise, it must be treated as:

- [a] allowing the person appointed under it as a proxy discretion as to how to vote on any ancillary or procedural resolutions put to the meeting, and
- [b] appointing that person as a proxy in relation to any adjournment of the General Meeting to which it relates as well as the meeting itself.

Delivery of proxy notices

[76] A Member who is entitled to attend, speak or vote (either on a show of hands or on a poll) at a General Meeting remains so entitled in respect of that Meeting or any adjournment of it, even though a valid proxy notice has been delivered to British Rowing by or on behalf of that Member.

[77] An appointment under a proxy notice may be revoked by delivering to British Rowing a notice in writing given by or on behalf of the Member by whom or on whose behalf the proxy notice was given.

[78] A notice revoking a proxy appointment only takes effect if it is delivered before the start of the Meeting or adjourned Meeting to which it relates.

[79] An ordinary resolution to be proposed at a General Meeting may be amended by ordinary resolution if:

[a] notice of the proposed amendment is given to British Rowing in writing by a Member entitled to vote at the General Meeting at which it is to be proposed not less than 48 hours before the Meeting is to take place (or such later time as the [chair] of the Meeting may determine), and

[b] the proposed amendment does not, in the reasonable opinion of the [chair] of the meeting, materially alter the scope of the resolution.

[80] A special resolution to be proposed at a General Meeting may be amended by ordinary resolution, if:

[a] the [chair] of the meeting proposes the amendment at the General Meeting at which the resolution is to be proposed, and

[b] the amendment does not go beyond what is necessary to correct a grammatical or other non-substantive error in the resolution.

[81] If the [chair] of the meeting, acting in good faith, wrongly decides that an amendment to a resolution is out of order, the [chair]'s error does not invalidate the vote on that resolution.

The matters specifically reserved for Board approval under the Reserved Authorities include decisions about British Rowing's financial plans, strategy and major policies, matters involving amounts over specified limits (which varies depending upon the nature of the transaction) and/or with the potential to have a material impact on the reputation of the organisation.

The Board also has the authority for succession planning and remuneration of the Chief Executive Officer (CEO).

All matters not specifically reserved for the Board and necessary for the day to day management of the organisation are delegated to the CEO.

2. Reserved Authorities

The CEO has general authority to run the organisation. This authority is largely delegated by the CEO to the executive directors who directly report to him/her (the Directors' Team). However, both the Board and the CEO reserve authority over specific decisions and areas of activity. These are the Reserved Authorities.

The Reserved Authorities do not define the complete list of matters that must be submitted to the Board or the CEO. Other material or significant items may require approval or disclosure to the Board or the CEO. If in doubt please contact the Director of Finance & Business Services.

Where titles or roles change, these Reserved Authorities apply to the equivalent role.

Approval from the authority holder must be obtained before taking action in any area of activity listed in this section.

The delegated authority levels approved by the Board have been agreed by the Board. They are redacted in the table below, but appear in a confidential version of this table. Notwithstanding the authority levels below, delegated authority must still be exercised within existing approved budgets and business plan.

Therefore, if any planned financial transaction is:

- not within the existing approved budget or business plan; and
- the incremental cost cannot be fully offset by additional secured income or identified budgeted cost savings; and
- the expected net incremental cost is expected to result in a variance of greater than an agreed level then approval must be sought from the Finance Committee before any commitment is made.

For one-off expenditure over an agreed level of comparative quotes or tenders should be obtained where possible. For items of regular expenditure exceeding an agreed level annually, comparative quotes or tenders must be obtained at intervals of no more than 4 years. Where terms and conditions of funding contracts specify a lower limit that limit shall be applied.

WHISTLE-BLOWING POLICY

1. Contents

Sections 2 to 8 of this document is the British Rowing Whistleblowing Policy as defined under Public Interest Disclosure Act 1998, which came into force on 2 July 1999. The Act protects workers who disclose information about malpractice at their current or former workplace, provided certain conditions are met. For the purposes of this policy the workplace includes that of British Rowing as well as off-site locations related to competition and training.

Section 9 of this document provides guidance to those who wish to disclose information about malpractice within a British Rowing affiliated club or event.

2. Scope

The policy applies to all employees, athletes, contractors and volunteers within British Rowing. Personal grievances (e.g. bullying, harassment, discrimination) are not normally covered by this policy, these are covered by British Rowing's Grievance Policies¹.

3. Introduction

All employees, athletes, contractors and volunteers within British Rowing in any capacity, at one time or another may have concerns about what is happening. It is the duty of everyone to speak up about genuine concerns. These concerns are usually best resolved by having a conversation with their line manager or their Director of Performance in respect of an athlete.

When disclosing a concern, an employee, athlete, contractor or volunteer must reasonably believe two things:

1. That they are acting in the public interest; and
2. that the disclosure may fall under one or more of the following headings of malpractice (the list is not exclusive):
 - a criminal offence e.g. fraud;
 - betting, corrupt conduct, inside-information and match fixing;
 - someone's health and safety is in danger e.g. coercion of an athlete to train against medical advice or conducting an unsafe-practice;

¹ There are separate grievance policies for employees and others.

- risk or actual damage to the environment;
- a miscarriage of justice;
- an organisation is breaking the law e.g. incorrect or inadequate insurance cover; or
- covering up wrong-doing, such as fabricating test results or supporting cheating (sport rule violation, anti-doping rule violation).

Employees, athletes, contractors and volunteers may be worried about raising such issues or may want to keep the concerns to themselves, perhaps feeling that it is none of their business or that it is only a suspicion. They may feel that raising the matter would be disloyal to colleagues, managers or to British Rowing. They may decide to say something but find that they have spoken to the wrong person or raised the issue in the wrong way and are not sure what to do next.

British Rowing takes any form of misconduct seriously and has introduced this policy to enable employees, athletes, contractors and volunteers to raise concerns early and in the right way. We encourage all individuals, where appropriate, to raise the matter as a concern rather than wait for proof.

4. Assurances to employees, athletes, contractors and students

4.1 Commitment

The Board of British Rowing is committed to this policy. If a genuine concern is disclosed under it, British Rowing will use all reasonable endeavours to protect the position of the individual concerned, provided they are acting in good faith. This assurance does not apply to someone who maliciously, raises a concern that they know is untrue.

The daily environment for a British Rowing employee, athlete, contractor or volunteer may be challenging following a whistleblowing disclosure, both whilst the disclosure is being investigated and following the conclusion of the process. If the individual feels that his/her environment is not tolerable, discussions should take place with the HR Manager, or the Director of Performance in respect of an athlete. British Rowing will seek to either redeploy that individual, suitably change their environment, or ensure that they are not disadvantaged as a result of making the disclosure.

4.2 Confidence

British Rowing does not tolerate the harassment or victimisation of anyone raising a genuine concern. However, we recognise that someone may wish to raise a concern 'in confidence'. If any individuals ask us to protect their identity we will not disclose it without their consent. If the situation develops and British Rowing is not able to resolve the concern without revealing their identity (for instance because evidence is required in court), we will consult with the employee, athlete, contractor or volunteer on how they would like to proceed.

British Rowing recognises that if we do not know the identity of the person disclosing a concern, it may be more difficult to resolve the matter: however, we will always endeavour to balance this with the needs of the individual raising a concern.

5. Procedure

Once British Rowing has been made aware of a concern we will make an initial assessment in order to decide what action should be taken. This may involve: an internal investigation; or an external review/investigation completed by independent experts who are not involved in the operation of British Rowing. The person disclosing will then be made aware of who is handling the concern and how they can be contacted and whether they will be required to assist in the future. A Panel will then be formed based on the needs of the case, which will be composed of those who have the knowledge required to fairly assess the disclosure.

British Rowing will act as quickly as possible to resolve the matter though the time taken to come to a resolution will depend on the nature of the disclosure. If appropriate and confidentiality allows, the person disclosing may be kept informed though this may not always be possible.

When raising a concern the employee, athlete, contractor or volunteer may be asked how they feel the matter might best be resolved. At this stage, we must be made aware of any personal interest in the matter. If the concern is deemed to be covered more appropriately by the Grievance Procedure we will make the individual aware and direct them to the policy. Records of disclosures will be kept in accordance with applicable law.

6. Raising a concern internally

Those who have a concern about misconduct would ideally raise it in the first instance with their Line Manager, alternatively with their Director or the HR Manager or Director of Performance. This may be done orally or in writing. The person disclosing must state whether they wish to raise the matter in confidence so the appropriate arrangements can be made.

If after following these concerns the person disclosing feels the matter has not been addressed, or if they feel that the matter is so serious that they cannot discuss it with any of the above they should contact the CEO.

If the person disclosing is still not satisfied with the decision making process or the action taken they can go to the other levels of escalation detailed in this policy (see below).

7. Raising a concern externally

Some professions, such as medicine and physiotherapy, have statutory duties to inform certain categories of disclosure externally. In disclosure cases such as criminal misconduct, child or vulnerable adult abuse, all employees, athletes, contractors and volunteers must inform the regulatory authorities without undue delay.

The disclosure process when dealt with internally by British Rowing may be duty bound to report this externally to statutory bodies.

8. Keeping the Board of British Rowing informed

The CEO will notify the Chair of British Rowing when a whistleblowing case has instigated a Panel investigation. Details of the case will not be discussed at that stage. Once the Panel findings are concluded, the Board of British Rowing will be fully informed, in confidence.

9. Raising a concern about malpractice at an affiliated club or regatta²

British Rowing is committed to encouraging a culture of openness: to protect its members, to uphold the reputation of the sport, and to maintain the public's confidence. This policy provides guidance by which serious concerns may be raised within British Rowing and addressed correctly.

Whistle-blowers are witnesses to a malpractice and will be protected for any disclosure of information, and supported by British Rowing.

Examples of malpractice include:

- Breaches of British Rowing rules, regulations, codes or policies as they may exist from time to time;
- Breaches of Safeguarding and Protecting Children, or Adults at Risk Policies;
- Danger to health and safety;
- Breach of the law;
- Bribery;
- Conduct that would cause reputational damage to rowing;
- Complicity including the deliberate concealment of any of the above.

Anyone approaching British Rowing, in good faith, with information regarding matters of malpractice taking place at a British Rowing affiliated club or event, will be taken seriously, treated fairly and concerns will be properly considered.

It is important that you do report your concerns. British Rowing recognise that this can be difficult, but whistleblowing will prevent the problem from getting worse, it could protect the individual/s from further harm or risk, and will also ensure that you do not become a party to lack of appropriate action being taken.

Concerns should be raised in the first instance with the following:

Type of concern	Who to raise it with	Contact Details
Breaches of Safeguarding and Protecting Children, or Adults at Risk Policies	Lead Safeguarding Officer	iso@britishrowing.org

² Regatta includes any affiliated event or competition subject to British Rowing rules or regulations

Breach of Anti-Doping Policy or Integrity Policy	Anti-Doping & Integrity Officer	antidoping@britishrowing.org
All other concerns	Governance Officer	governance@britishrowing.org

Individuals are encouraged to put their name to any disclosure. Where possible confidentiality will be maintained, although it must be stressed that in serious cases it will not always be possible to maintain strict confidentiality if the concerns reach the investigation stage. Anonymous complaints may not be investigated or acted upon if there is insufficient information to proceed.

All concerns will be taken seriously. They will initially be considered by the relevant Officer, who will make any preliminary enquiries. The relevant Officer will then decide, on the basis of the information provided:

- Whether or not there is enough evidence to proceed
- Whether to refer for appropriate action under the relevant Policy or Procedure.

The relevant Officer will advise the Whistle-blower of the outcome of any enquiry and any action taken.

In some instances, particularly those involving child safety, doping, or betting, it may be necessary to refer the matter to an external authority, for example the police, NSPCC, UK Anti-Doping or Sports Betting Intelligence Unit. If this is the case both the Whistle-blower and the person against whom the concern has been made will be notified of this, unless British Rowing is prohibited from doing so by law or at the direction of the external authority.

Any person approaching British Rowing with genuine concerns will not be disadvantaged or discriminated against in any way because of the disclosure. However, British Rowing will take a serious view and act accordingly, including taking disciplinary action against appropriate parties, should it be found that the allegations have been raised maliciously.

British Rowing accepts that it has an obligation to protect Whistle-blowers who make a disclosure in good faith from reprisal or victimisation as a result of the complaint. If a Whistle-blower suffers any adverse treatment as a result of reporting a concern they should submit a formal complaint under the Disciplinary & Grievance Procedure. If it is found that a Whistle-blower has suffered adverse treatment, harassment or victimisation as a result of their disclosure disciplinary action will normally be taken against the perpetrator.
